MILITARY SOLUTIONS

Honored to “serve those who serve”, Haskell has been designing and building military facilities throughout the United States for over eighteen years. Haskell understands the funding, contracting, scheduling and security constraints associated with military facilities.

With the full range of integrated design and construction capabilities necessary to complete military projects on time and within budget, Haskell is always prepared to hit the ground running — there is no learning curve! Inhouse design and construction professionals have a wealth of experience in designing and constructing projects in strict accordance with Unified Facilities Criteria, sustainable design principles and to meet anti-terrorism/force protection requirements.

Simultaneous management of multiple military projects without impacting ongoing operations or compromising security is evidenced by Haskell’s diverse military facility resume. Housing, maintenance, administrative, research, training, personnel support, recreation, industrial, aviation, marine and storage facilities have been successfully delivered — from vision to solution.
